National Business Awards Recognition for Trimega

Trimega Laboratories, an international supplier of substance misuse testing products, was a runner-up at the UK's National Business Awards on Tuesday (18.11.08), described by Gordon Brown as the 'Business Oscars'. The glittering ceremony and dinner took place at the Grosvenor House Hotel on Park Lane and was attended by 1,200 of the UK's leading business figures alongside Peter Mandelson, Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform and HRH The Earl of Wessex.

Open to companies of any size from both the public and private sector, the Awards recognise the achievements of the country's most successful organisations, rewarding excellence, innovation and success across 17 different categories. Trimega Laboratories was shortlisted in the Tenon Entrepreneurial Spirit category in recognition for its efforts to introduce substance misuse testing products to new markets - in particular the UK legal sector.

Avi Lasarow, managing director of Trimega Laboratories, commented:
"Whilst it was a disappointment that we weren't crowned as winner, it was an honour for Trimega to have been judged as a leading corporation alongside the likes of Rolls Royce and Diageo. It also gave us a chance to network at the highest level and meet Prince Edward with whom we discussed the importance of the work that Trimega is doing worldwide to help those whose lives are impacted by substance misuse."

Trimega Laboratories was accompanied at the Awards ceremony by Lorraine Vanzie, international trade advisor for UKTI, who has been assisting with the export growth strategy for products such as the 'Drugalyzer'.
