LAWYER RECEIVES AWARD FOR LIFE CHANGING WORK

The Board of Trimega Laboratories, an international supplier of substance misuse testing products, is pleased to announce that human Rights lawyer, Yogi Amin, has been named Social and Welfare Lawyer of the Year.

Yogi, a Partner in the Public Law team at Irwin Mitchell, received the award from Cherie Booth QC, at the prestigious Legal Aid Lawyer of the Year Awards, sponsored by Trimega Laboratories.

He was recognised for the many high profile legal aid cases he has been associated with, including his success earlier this year where he overturned the Primary Care Trusts (PCT) decision to deny the life enhancing drug Revlimid to cancer sufferer Colin Ross based on the 'postcode lottery'.

Recognised by his peers for his "fearless commitment to the interests of the clients", Head of Public Law at Doughty Street chambers Ian Wise said: "Those of us who have worked with Yogi are well-aware of his conscientiousness and phenomenal ability to achieve positive results for his clients."

Yogi's commitment and success is also apparent through cases such as his work with breast cancer sufferers who were being denied Herceptin, and elderly and vulnerable patients who were denied Lucentis, a sight-saving drug for patients suffering from Age-related Macular Degeneration (AMD).
